

Academic Year: 2016 / 2017

English Exam N°3 Duration: 2 hours

Some amazing women come from Morocco and Khaoula Morchid is one of them. She is the 20-year-old founder of Future Moroccan Entrepreneurs (FME), an entrepreneurship and leadership programme that aims to create a proactive generation of leaders who take action to address their society's needs. Born and raised in Marrakesh, she decided to take a special path outside what is seen in Morocco as the norm for an outstanding student who has always been the first in her class, school and region of Marrakesh Tensift Elhaouz.

- Khaoula attended Ibn Toumert Secondary High School and finished the first year of Science and Maths Baccalaureate. While also taking English classes at the Centre for Language and Culture, she found a poster about the African Leadership Academy (ALA). After a selective admission process, she left Morocco in 2011, to attend ALA where she had the opportunity to enhance her entrepreneurial leadership skills by going through a rigorous programme and holding various leadership positions, such as the CEO of an enterprise run by a student, the chair of the ALA student government, the head of the ALA delegation to Harvard Model United Nations and Georgetown MUN in Qatar.
- Khaoula is currently studying at the University of Notre Dame in the U.S. as part of the prestigious Hesburgh-Yusko Scholars Programme which is a "comprehensive merit-based scholarship and programme that seeks to attract, encourage, and equip extraordinary students who will have a transformational effect" worldwide. She has developed a passion for entrepreneurship and development. This made her spend last summer working on sustainable development projects in Germany and Bangladesh where she met Nobel Laureate Muhammad Yunus.

- After her return to Morocco for summer vacation, she organized the 4th edition of Future Moroccan Entrepreneurs on August 11–14, 2014 in
 - Marrakech, an initiative she founded with some of her classmates while she was at ALA. She says that Moroccan youths have a lot of potential and can help change their country if they move from talking to acting by "making their ideas a reality" and she hopes that the spirit spreads through FME and other initiatives.
- Khaoula is eager to continue learning inside and outside the classroom through conferences she attends with delegates from all over the globe (Three Dot Dash in New York, World Business Dialogue in Cologne and others). She is looking forward to returning to Morocco to apply the knowledge and experience she will acquire in her years abroad in shaping the way entrepreneurship works in Morocco and the whole African continent.
- The civil engineering student, who has received various awards, hopes to come back and settle down in Morocco where she intends to improve key areas like "health, education and employment". So, she thinks that social issues such as crime and brain drain would inevitably be solved.
