The image shows four rows of handwriting practice on ruled paper. Each row contains two horizontal black lines and three vertical purple lines. The first row on the left has a single horizontal black line. The second row on the left has a double horizontal black line. The third row on the left has a single horizontal black line. The fourth row on the left has a double horizontal black line. To the right of each row, there is a handwritten Arabic letter: س (row 1), ت (row 2), ب (row 3), and ل (row 4). The letters are written in a cursive style, showing stroke order and orientation relative to the grid.
